Fall 2020

To: KickUp

Teaching in Philadelphia has allowed me the opportunity to incite curiosity, passion, and a deep interest in learning to a diversity of students . I would like to combine my understanding of what a teacher and a student need to cultivate a positive learning experience with my growing love and passion for programming and problem solving. Though I have only been programming for a few months, I love it, and find building software incredibly exciting and rewarding.

I believe I would be a great fit for the Software Engineering Apprenticeship position due to my professional experience as an educator in the Philadelphia Public School System and my newly found love of software development.
